Your data... when and where you need it!

Getting TrulinX data to your mobile sales and management team used to be a daunting and inefficient task. Using new technologies such as smart phones, push technology, and broadband cellular networks, your data is now easily available. Introducing TrulinX Mobile, the powerful new service that connects your TrulinX Software System and your smart phones is virtually real time. Sales and management now have the ability to easily browse through customers, vendors, orders, quotes, purchase orders, item availability, and more. Order & Quote notifications keep your sales and management up to date with customer specific alerts sent directly to your handheld based on dollar amounts, margins and more. Increase your sales & service level while reducing your costs, spend more time with your customers and less in the office. TrulinX Mobile, your data.. when and where you need it!
